

Thank you for joining us at the Anne Frank Trust Lunch to mark Holocaust Memorial Day.

I hope you found the event meaningful and learnt more about the need for our education programmes across the country.

The Rt Hon Theresa May MP clearly endorsed the need for our work when she said: “working to fight hate and prejudice is what the Anne Frank Trust does – you keep the memory of Anne Frank alive, so that we remember the history of Europe’s darkest hour that has lessons for us all in making this society a place free from discrimination.”

It was 15 year old Nathan who truly communicated the importance of our work, an Anne Frank Ambassador in every sense. He said: “I now know how to challenge prejudice when I am confronted with it, to help others who don’t understand, and to challenge those who understand but still spread hatred”.

I am delighted to tell you that thanks to your generosity the lunch has so far raised a phenomenal £440,000 not counting donations from the event that are still coming in. I cannot thank you enough.

Our work depends on voluntary donations. Thank you for helping us continue to break down barriers and give young people the chance to challenge prejudice and positively influence those around them.

As I mentioned, there are many ways to become involved with the Anne Frank Trust. Please get in touch if you would like to join the Lunch Committee; or join our Cycle Challenge from London to Amsterdam in May. Or if you are under 35, please let us know if you are interested in joining our Young Networking and Fundraising Committee.

Thank you again for your support and we look forward to seeing you at future Anne Frank Trust events.

Best wishes,
Pardeep Sandhu
